Dear Friends,

Thank you for your donation to Building Minds in South Sudan. Your generous contribution of $2,000.00 goes toward increasing literacy and educational opportunities in South Sudan. Because of your support, our first school Ajong Primary School with almost 900 students, is the largest school in the entire country of South Sudan. Our all girls school, Majok-Keen, has an enrollment of over 600 girls and the remaining two classrooms will be completed in 2018 along with three sets of latrines and teachers' and storage rooms. Majok-Keen is the only public all girls' primary school in all of South Sudan and is headed by the only female principal in the country as well.

Through your contribution to Building Minds in South Sudan, you continue to make Sebastian's and Mathon's dream come true: "giving back" by building schools and providing educational opportunities for people in their village. This dream has blossomed into a beautiful reality and keeps on blossoming thanks to generous and caring people like you! Thank you once again.

No goods and/or services were provided in return for, or in consideration for these contributions. Building Minds in South Sudan is a 501(c)(3) tax exempt organization.

Thank you again for your generous support.

Sincerely,

Judy Schwartz, BMISS Board Chair
